Read this book When Angie and Alex arrive at Camp Dakota, a thick fog envelops everything and when the campers start finding mysterious notes with hints about a Fog Zombie, their counselors teach them about solids, liquids, gases, and the properties of matter to uncover the meaning of the clues. Kiddo enjoyed the clues in the story thrilled to have her guess about the periodic table. Naturally, they dismiss the rumors, but when they find clues that seem to point them to the zombie's lair, they find more--or less--than they bargained. It also has easy experiments they can do in class or at home. How does a corn seed become corn on the cob? The solid truth will soon flow your way" before they do in the book. Welcome.
